

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A freight management method, comprising
 - sensing a condition on a freight asset;
 - transmitting the information concerning the sensed condition over a wireless system to a monitor system in one format;
 - translating the information concerning the sensed condition into a second format;
 - transmitting the information concerning the sensed condition from the monitor system in the second format to a user capable of receiving in the second format.